

World War II

While outside the scope of the initial brief of the MRU, volunteers also compiled information on service enlistees for WW II who recorded Bassendean as their home district. While these records are not comprehensive they are a starting point for future researchers and members felt the information should be recorded. A total of 209 for the Army, 4 for the Navy, and 13 for the Air Force were gathered.

A further 24 names of those who served in the local VDC are also recorded.

The Bassendean War Memorial

The Bassendean Memorial Library is named in honour of the Bassendean War Memorial which was located on the site from 1920 until its relocation in 1971.

The Memorial is inscribed with 160 names on four faces and commemorates those who serviced in World War I. The front face lists twenty eight soldiers who were killed and the remaining faces list those who served overseas and returned.

The Memorial Research Unit was formed by the Centenary Committee to identify soldiers listed on the Bassendean war memorial. The MRU identified a further 43 soldiers eligible for listing on the memorial, including a further five killed in action. These five have now been added to the front face of the memorial.

World War I

The war to end all wars was particularly long and brutal involving the mass use of troops, machine guns, artillery, gas, tanks and aircraft. Of the total of 203 who enlisted from the small town of West Guildford, 33 were killed (being 1 in 6).

Two thirds (130) of the total embarked with the infantry and of these 26 were killed being 20% or 1 in 5.

Representation was highest in the following infantry battalions: 11th Bn (32-9 killed), 16th Bn (24-2 killed), 28th Bn (28-10 killed) and the 44th Bn (19-1 killed).

In Foreign Fields

The first loss was Pte Ben Bailey, 11th Bn, shot on the beach at Gallipoli on the morning of April 25th 1915. Three others were killed before the evacuation in December 1915. The battles in France and Belgium bore the heaviest losses with 13 killed in 1916 and another 9 in 1917.

Over the same period 2 of the 8, 10th Light Horsemen were killed in the Palestine campaign. The final year of the war cost another four lives with Pte John Christie, 28th Bn and Pte William Wilson, 1st AGH, both killed in action just six weeks before the war ended. The last to die on service was Dvr Reginald Price, Field Artillery, who died of injuries in February 1919 before returning home.
