What is Remembrance Day?

Many Australians stop what they are doing at exactly 11am in their local times on November 11 each year to dedicate a minute of silence for those who died in war, especially soldiers from as far back as World War I.

Many people wear artificial poppies on the day and key political figures make speeches in remembrance of the nation's fallen heroes. Services are held at 11am at war memorials in suburbs and towns across the country, at which the "Last Post" is played by a bugler and a one-minute silence is observed.

Rhymetime and Storytime.

NAIDOC Week celebrations are held across Australia each July to celebrate the history, culture and achievements of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. NAIDOC is celebrated not only in Indigenous communities, but by Australians from all walks of life. The week is a great opportunity to participate in a range of activities and to support your local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community.

This book is based on Wanjoo, the Welcome song, which is written, performed and taught by Balladong (Noongar) singer-songwriter Gina Williams. Originally written for Gina's three children, Wanjoo has been performed and taught to 40,000 people across Australia and around the world.

It has also been translated into Wajarri (Geraldton) and Malgana (Shark Bay) languages.

It is hoped that one day this song will be translated into lots of local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander dialects all over Australia; because these are the first languages of this land and we should be singing them because we live here.

Wanjoo is available for singalong via Youtube: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=cSUJxNo-34>

And it's available on Kalyakoorl; an album Gina recorded with her dear friend Guy Ghouse. You can purchase a copy of Kalyakoorl via www.ginawilliams.com.au
