DVD Review

The Sounds (2020)

Set against the scenic backdrop of New Zealand's best-kept secret, this riveting story combines the multiple layers of Big Little Lies with the marital microscope of The Affair and the unexpected twists of Ozark. Grieving wives, cheating husbands, epic embezzlement, threatening scrutiny and historic crime - all collide to weave a complicated web stretching through the Sounds hidden valleys and deep waters. And at the centre of it all? Maggie Cabbott.

Features stunning vistas of New Zealand.

Remember Me by Charity Norman. (2022)

Twenty-five years ago, young woman Leah disappeared without a trace. The close-knit community has never forgotten and her family still hope to find out what happened.

After years of living overseas, Emily returns to New Zealand to care for her father, Felix, who suffers from dementia. As his memory fades and his guard slips, she begins to understand him for the first time – and to glimpse shattering truths about his past. Truths she'd rather were kept buried...

I'm a big fan of this author and loved this latest novel. I always find the concept of a loved one with dementia to be quite sad, and I felt the author depicted Felix's deterioration and Emily's feelings towards it both realistically and respectfully. The narrative is well-paced and the ongoing mystery of Leah's disappearance adds a layer of tension to everything. The story is super engrossing with well-written and relatable characters, and I had trouble putting it down the few times I had to. Beware of starting this one at night because you'll be easily tempted to stay up way too late to finish it!

Overall: highly recommend for those readers that enjoy a bit of mystery with an emotional domestic drama. BG

The Art of Advertising.

STRAYED into the grounds of the Cleikum Inn, Guildford:
A bay filly, with a small white mark on her forehead; the owner may have her on paying the expenses incurred.

Local advertisements were designed to persuade you to buy the land, purchase the product and use the service being offered. Advertising developed from hand drawn text, only in black and white to sophisticated computer typeset, colour images and the predominance of images rather than text. Advertising techniques included asking rhetorical questions and using loyalty deals and providing discounts to regular patrons.

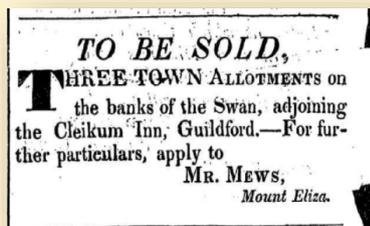

Local advertisements can be accessed online via a Trove List, curated by the Local Studies Librarian. You will find adverts about Goodchild Cycles and the beloved local bakers the Lovelock family. Find the address and names of local providers including hair dressers, tea rooms, doctors and information about the larger industrial factories and businesses in the district. Select your favourite slogan!
